Course Overview

The Prudential Standard CPS 234 is a regulatory standard issued by the Australian Prudential Authority (APRA). This course targets areas where weaknesses in information security management continue to be identified as part of Australian Prudential Regulation Authority (APRA's) ongoing supervision activities. It is also intended to provide guidance with respect to the implementation of Prudential Standard CPS 234 Information Security (CPS 234). The intended outcome is to ensure that APRA-regulated entities take measures to be resilient against information security incidents, including cyber-attacks, so that under all reasonable circumstances financial promises made by APRA-regulated entities to beneficiaries are met

CPS 234 - Prudential Standard Information Security

Who Should Attend?	The Prudential Standard CPS 234 is applicable to banks, credit unions, building societies, general insurance and reinsurance companies, life insurance, private health insurers, friendly societies, and most members of the superannuation industry.
Course Objectives	This Prudential Standard aims to ensure that an APRA-regulated entity takes measures to be resilient against information security incidents (including cyber-attacks) by maintaining an information security capability commensurate with information security vulnerabilities and threats.
Benefits	• Clear definition of internal responsibilities for cyber-security, starting at board level • Cyber-security capability commensurate with the size and extent of the threats • Controls to protect information assets and on-going testing of their effectiveness • Notification to APRA of material cyber-security incidents.
